Components of Population Change

Number of Births and Deaths in Pennsylvania, 1990-2020

*Preliminary births and deaths.

Data source: Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Natural Population Change (Births Minus Deaths) by County, 2010-2019

Data source: Pennsylvania Department of Health.

- More Deaths than Births (Neg. Natural Change)
- More Births than Deaths (Pos. Natural Change)

Total Fertility Rates by County, 2016-2020

Total Fertility Rate Replacement Level = 2.10+

- Below Replacement Level
- At or Above Replacement Level

According to the CDC, the total fertility rate (TFR) estimates the number of births that a hypothetical group of women would have over their lifetimes, based on age-specific birth rates in a given year. Replacement level for the TFR is the level at which a given generation can exactly replace itself (generally considered to be 2.1 births per woman). Data for Pennsylvania counties are for women aged 15 to 44 years old. Data sources: Pennsylvania Department of Health and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Top Five States with the Highest Total Fertility Rates, 2016-2020

1. South Dakota = 2.13
2. Utah = 2.05
3. North Dakota = 2.03
4. Nebraska = 2.02
5. Alaska = 1.99
- ...
39. Pennsylvania = 1.67
